PHISHING ALERT – Emails Involving the Misuse of Ocean Network Express' Name

We have been made aware of phishing attempts made via email targeting Ocean Network Express customers by misusing the name of Ocean Network Express.

These phishing emails would appear to use “one-line” in front of domains such as “@mail.com” and others. In these phishing emails, the scammers claim to be an employee of Ocean Network Express purporting to notify the recipients that Ocean Network Express’s bank account details has changed. This is fake information, and Ocean Network Express and its other group companies have no involvement in these phishing emails.

If you receive any communication purporting to be from Ocean Network Express and you are in any doubt as to whether or not such communication was genuinely made by Ocean Network Express, please telephone your current representative from Ocean Network Express for confirmation or our sales representative.
